DETAILED ACTION

This office action is in response to the Amendment filed 14 April 2004.

The rejections of claims 1-5, 7-9, 11, and 12, as stated in the paper mailed 15 December 2003, are maintained.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 14 April 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant contends that Klimesch '379 and Klimesch '585 do not teach the instant invention because the combination of the two disclosures would result in a process that has potentially harmful consequences and requires extensive engineering. This is not persuasive because Klimesch '585 clearly discloses that after the formation of his tablet belt, the tablet belt is transported further, deflashed, and "broken up to give...individual tablets.", i.e. singulated. The teaching of continuous singulating of a tablet belt is found in the disclosure of Klimesch '379 (See Figure 1; Column 11, lines 8-9). Therefore, the disclosures of Klimesch '585 and Klimesch '379 are easily combinable. Although the coordination of the singulating rolls of Klimesch '379 with Klimesch '585's method would take precise coordination and/or engineering, it is maintained that such successful adjustments would be easily in the scope of skill of one of ordinary skill in the art.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
